Kennedy's Confidence Greatest Since Dewey

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is sailing along on a wave of outward confidence that seldom has been equaled in a presidential candidate since Thomas E. Dewey ran in 1948.

The Democratic nominee announced Tuesday a group of experts already had been chosen to advise him on national security policies between the November election and inauguration day in January—if he is elected.

While no one was saying the situations were parallel, old timers recalled hearing Dewey "leak" his cabinet choices a couple of weeks before he was defeated 12 years ago by Harry S. Truman.

Kennedy said he intends during the campaign to criticize vigorously various aspects of current national security policies, but he said his "criticism will be responsible and constructive."

Looking To Inauguration

He said he does not expect these chosen advisers to be active in the campaign but rather to help him frame policies between election and inauguration.

"In this dangerous period," he said in a statement, "it is imperative that we maintain the highest national unity and the utmost responsibility in matters of national security at all times."

"Both during the election and during the transfer of power from one administration to the next we must demonstrate to the world that America is united, responsible and alert—ready and able to meet any crises that may arise."

Kennedy criticized the Eisenhower administration for not bringing Democrats into its councils. The four he named have served the GOP administration in advisory capacities from time to time.

They are: Paul H. Nitze, former director of the State Department staff, who said he is a former Republican turned Democrat. He was an adviser to the Gaither Committee which reported to Eisenhower on defense matters.

David E. Bruce, a Democrat, who served as ambassador to

Lana Turner To Wed Fred May

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Lana Turner and sportsman Fred May got a marriage license Tuesday. But the couple said they are keeping their wedding plans secret.

Miss Turner gave her age as 39, May 43.

They have been almost constant companions for nearly a year.

Miss Turner has made a profitable box-office comeback since the 1958 slaying of her hoodlum lover, Johnny Stompanato.

Her daughter, Cheryl Crane, now 16, told investigators she stabbed Stompanato because he threatened her mother. Cheryl, described by authorities as a problem child for several years, is now in a county home for wayward girls.

Reds Aid Congo Buildup

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congo government sent more troops to Kasai province Tuesday in an apparent buildup for invasion of secessionist Katanga province with reported Communist help.

"I can assure you the Congolese are not doing it themselves," a Soviet source said. By a count of Communist newsmen 100 Soviet trucks of the type used here for transporting troops have been sent to the interior.

Ten Soviet Ilyushin-14 planes are being flown to the Congo and are expected to arrive in Stanleyville within a few days. The purpose of the flight is not known but it is being rumored they may be piloted by Czechs and that a new airline may be started with them to replace the old Belgian line now known as Air Congo.

The developments came as the United Nations reported all Belgian combat troops had left the Congo by last midnight. Only a number of Belgian specialists remain in the big camps of Kamina in Katanga province and Kitona near Leopoldville.

The Katanga camp became the center of a dispute between Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe and the United Nations. Tshombe threatened Tuesday to put Kamina Base out of action unless the U.N. hands over the security of the base to the Katanga Army. The U.N. wants the base neutralized and prohibited to all troops but U.N. forces.

Two policemen were wounded, one seriously.

Thousands of frightened bystanders watched the big town drama after a foreign and domestic currency firm was robbed in the RCA Building—on 50th Street opposite Radio City Music Hall.

Traffic was snarled all around the Center.

Palmerton Boy Drowns In Lehigh

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon spent his second day in the hospital Tuesday but his spokesman said "We don't look for any lessening in the intensity" of his presidential campaign.

The word from the Nixon camp was that the GOP presidential nominee, in addition to being treated satisfactorily for an infected knee, was busy revamping his campaign plans.

Speaking to Republican party Public relations consultants from all sections of the country, he predicted that two weeks before the end of the campaign there will be "a large breakthrough" for the Republican ticket. Hagerty was not explain just what he was forecasting.

Nixon conferred by telephone with aides and had a visit from Mrs. Nixon. Late this afternoon President Eisenhower dropped in to see him at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

It was announced that Nixon's vice presidential running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, will sub for Nixon at some functions during the two weeks he is expected to be hospitalized. Lodge will give up his job as U.N. ambassador on Saturday.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary who made the announcement, said also that former Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall will substitute for Nixon Wednesday at a seminar here for Republican House candidates.

How About Air Conditioning?

Dear Abby: I work in a 3-girl office. There are no outside windows, and we are having the battle of the fan, door and transom. The score is 2 to 1 in favor of the door and transom. I like the fan but the other two say the fan gives them stiff necks and colds that last all summer. So they open the door and transom. This creates a draft. When I complain about the draft, they say the only draft in the office comes from one loud mouth. (Mine). It is like watching a bunch of kids. When one leaves the office the other turns off the fan and opens the transom. I am sick and tired of this. Can you offer a solution?

'Look Homeward Angel' Excellent In All Ways

By Gloria S. Randolph

MOUNTAINHOME—The Pocono Playhouse production of "Look Homeward Angel" is certainly worthy of the magnificence of the play. It is a play which is big because of the grandeur which lies in the inherent intelligence of its characters.

It had to be given a production which is in every sense full scale. A play of such magnitude cannot be called "intimate theater," yet there is a communion between the audience and the players which makes it seem like the story and the characters are viewed through a magnifying glass.

Rowena Stevens deserves a vote of thanks for giving us an opportunity to see a play of such importance with production values of the highest standard.

Work of Art

Ketti Frings has done more than a mere adaptation of Thomas Wolfe's novel. She has created a distinguished work of art. Her selection of various sights, sounds and feelings of the book makes the play a miracle of true sensitivity. Andrew Prine, Miriam Hopkins, Victor Kilian and a fine supporting cast give the characters a dimension which is really remarkable.

Miss Hopkins plays Eliza Gant, the avaricious, clever dealing mother with excellent perception. Her performance is honestly dramatic. "Eliza's" scope is limited but her greed is boundless. Her domination of her family is not due to excessive or misdirected mothering, but rather that she considers them her possessions.

She makes almost no concession to their individual personalities until she feels that she can gain something by making some kind of a business trade for them. In a sense she wants value received before she allows them to leave the nest.

Victor Kilian, as "Eliza's" husband, the tormented "W. O. Gant," shows exactly the right vacillation between strength and weakness. "W.O." is a man whose voracious appetites and lusts are significant of unfulfillment.

In "Eugene Gant" (Tom Wolfe's self-portrait) the cleverness of his mother and his father's desire to amount to something combine. At seventeen he is an ungainly boy, too large for the world around him with a tremendous capacity for knowledge and an anguished longing to accumulate it. Andrew Prine's portrayal of "Eugene" is unbelievably sensitive. Prine seems to have captured the youth's sincerity and intensity.

His emotional scenes are played with tasteful restraint without any sacrifice of dramatic power. It is doubtful that anyone could be a more perfect combination of the physically awkward boy and the talented man whose genius was later to overflow in profuse quantities of beautiful writing.

Lynn Wood gives a moving performance as "Laura James" — Eugene's first love. The tender feelings of desire that she has for him are beautifully projected.

Lee Richardson plays "Ben Gant," Eugene's brother, with qualities of maturity and understanding. Phillipa Bevans is perfect as Ben's companionable lover "Mrs. Fatty Pert." Together they achieve a peaceful relationship in an atmosphere of constant misunderstanding.

Other outstanding performances are given by Nancy Cushman and Paula Huston. Eugene Stockman and Donald Marley are also presenting excellent character interpretations.

The other members of the cast, the set and the direction are more than merely competent. They are truly first-rate in theatrical value and contribute to the general excellence of the entire production.

Smallpox Epidemic

SINTANG, West Borneo (AP)—A smallpox epidemic took more than 100 lives in less than a week in the village of Pelaiak.

Miss Hopkins plays Eliza Gant, the avaricious, clever dealing mother with excellent perception.

Her performance is honestly dramatic. "Eliza's" scope is limited but her greed is boundless. Her domination of her family is not due to excessive or misdirected mothering, but rather that she considers them her possessions.

She makes almost no concession to their individual personalities until she feels that she can gain something by making some kind of a business trade for them. In a sense she wants value received before she allows them to leave the nest.

Victor Kilian, as "Eliza's" husband, the tormented "W. O. Gant," shows exactly the right vacillation between strength and weakness. "W.O." is a man whose voracious appetites and lusts are significant of unfulfillment.

In "Eugene Gant" (Tom Wolfe's self-portrait) the cleverness of his mother and his father's desire to amount to something combine. At seventeen he is an ungainly boy, too large for the world around him with a tremendous capacity for knowledge and an anguished longing to accumulate it. Andrew Prine's portrayal of "Eugene" is unbelievably sensitive. Prine seems to have captured the youth's sincerity and intensity.

His emotional scenes are played with tasteful restraint without any sacrifice of dramatic power. It is doubtful that anyone could be a more perfect combination of the physically awkward boy and the talented man whose genius was later to overflow in profuse quantities of beautiful writing.

Lynn Wood gives a moving performance as "Laura James" — Eugene's first love. The tender feelings of desire that she has for him are beautifully projected.

Lee Richardson plays "Ben Gant," Eugene's brother, with qualities of maturity and understanding. Phillipa Bevans is perfect as Ben's companionable lover "Mrs. Fatty Pert." Together they achieve a peaceful relationship in an atmosphere of constant misunderstanding.

Other outstanding performances are given by Nancy Cushman and Paula Huston. Eugene Stockman and Donald Marley are also presenting excellent character interpretations.

The other members of the cast, the set and the direction are more than merely competent. They are truly first-rate in theatrical value and contribute to the general excellence of the entire production.

Improvement Noted

Vice Adm. Rickover has fired another blast at the American public schools and the "educationists" who keep telling us we have the best schools in the world.

The admiral insists we have devalued our educational currency. He says Europeans acquire in 12 to 13 years a liberal education that takes Americans 16 years.

He challenges the argument that it is undemocratic to separate the bright and the dull after elementary school and to put them into different types of secondary school. He takes another swipe at trivial courses and overemphasis on sports.

Much of what Adm. Rickover says is true, but there are signs of improvement.

A survey made at the approach of a new school year shows that across the nation the school day is being lengthened. courses in the sciences and the humanities are being expanded, more attention is being paid both to the gifted and the laggard, and the teaching of foreign languages is spreading.

At the same time delegates to the annual conference of the National Student Assn. report a new and growing sense of responsibility among college students. More of them are showing an interest in what is going on outside the campus and are expressing a determination to do something about world problems.

What we have here is no more than a beginning, but the signs are hopeful.

If in the schools and colleges there is a new awareness that there are more vital things than winning that game with Central State or learning life adjustment, we can thank not only the Russians but Adm. Rickover and others who have been urging education to raise its standards and goals.

Education Problem Builds Up

Whatever the prospects for getting something done soon about higher education in Pennsylvania, one thing is certain:

The problem is not standing still, waiting for legislators and educators and study groups to catch up with it.

Just the other day the Department of Public Instruction calmly announced it expects enrollment in Pennsylvania's colleges and universities to hit a total of just over 203,000 in September.

This figure, standing alone, doesn't mean much. But it is a full nine per cent above the total enrollment last year, and the increase, more than 17,000, is about triple the increase from 1959 to 1960.

These aren't the postwar babies. So much discussion has taken place about the effect of the postwar birth rate explosion, that it is sometimes assumed these kids are now on the threshold of college admission. But a little arithmetic reveals they can be no more than 14 years old.

The typical student on his way to college this September was born in 1942, a high birth rate year compared to the Depression, but low compared to what was coming in the late '40s and the '50s.

What is about to happen in the 1960-61 school year reflects the population increase to some extent. Even more, it is evidence of the persistent, cumulative increase in desire among parents for a college education for their children. Not only are there more students, but a bigger percentage of them are heading to college.

The cost of attending college is another factor that is far from standing still. As a result, much of the increased enrollment pressure is on the public institutions — Pennsylvania State University and the 14 state colleges.

The latter institutions, which dropped the name of teachers' colleges but are still that in practice, this year have had to turn away unprecedented numbers of students. The bright side of the situation, of course, is that the teaching field is getting a more select group of candidates. But it also means that students with borderline qualifications have almost nowhere to turn.

With the changing situation in the state colleges, the Department of Public Instruction last week announced the beginning of a commendable program. Beginning next year applicants to these colleges will have to take the College Board entrance exams. The result will be greater precision in selectivity of students.

What the Department of Public Instruction cannot do is provide solutions for the more critical pressures building up in higher education.

It is the legislature, with the help of the Governor's Commission on Education, that must face up to this responsibility of providing enough room and enough quality instruction, both on a two-year and a four-year level, for all of Pennsylvania's children who are headed for college.

The nine per cent enrollment increase expected this year is impressive enough. But in terms of the next decade, it is but a preface of things to come. —Harrisburg Patriot

Reports From Congress

Many Won't Cast Vote

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — More than 107,000 Americans will be of voting age this November, according to Census Bureau estimates. But probably no more than 65,000,000 — between 60 and 65 percent of the electorate — will actually make it to the polls Nov. 8.

Where will the other 42,000,000 potential voters be?

A Congressional Quarterly survey shows millions of them will be prevented from voting by factors largely beyond their control. Staff residence requirements in state laws may keep up to 8,000,000 recently-moved Americans from registering to vote. Poll taxes are believed to keep another 4,000,000 away from the polls.

Other requirements which cut down on voting include literacy tests and bans on votes by convicts or the insane. Furthermore, the residents of the District of Columbia and all Federal property have no vote.

A modest estimate of the total "involuntary non-voters" is 13,000,000.

Get-out-the-Vote Drives — The remaining 29,000,000 non-voters are those citizens who lack sufficient interest to register and vote.

This year, as every year during the past decade, they are targets of a massive campaign to lure, entice, embarrass or shame every eligible citizen to the polls.

The American Heritage Foundation and its partner, the Advertising Council, will again provide the nonpartisan atmosphere and advertising for the movement. Advertisers and media are expected to contribute up to $12 million advertising time and space in campaign urging voters to register, contribute and work for the parties of their choice, and to vote.

The Kennedy-for-President organization has set up a National Voters Registration Committee with a 12-man Washington staff and registration chairmen in 40 states. The Democrats claim 7 out of 10 unregistered voters are Democrats, and are aiming at getting millions of them registered for the Nov. 8 election.

Republicans dispute the contention that the unregistered are predominantly Democratic, and have launched their own national registration campaign, concentrating on 23 states from Maine to California which have a total of 369 electoral votes. The GOP campaign is stimulated and coordinated by the National Committee, but direct management is left to state and local organizations.

Other groups engaged in the 1960 get-out-the-vote campaign are the AFL-CIO (which is budgeting $500,000 for a registration drive), the League of Women Voters and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The size of the vote in the U.S. has been increasing in recent years, along with the growth of the population. But in percentage terms, the U.S. turnout lags far behind most European democracies where between 78 and 97 percent have turned out for election in recent years.

How states voted — The biggest vote in American history was the 1966 Presidential turnout, of just over 62,000,000. But measured against the potential vote, the 1966 turnout was only 60.4 percent of the potential, while the 1962 turnout was 63 percent of the potential.

In Pennsylvania, 65 percent of the potential voters cast Presidential ballots in 1966, while 65 percent of them voted for President in 1962.

Connecticut, Idaho and Utah were the states where the highest percentage of potential voters went to the polls in 1966. Mississippi, South Carolina and Alabama were on the lowest end of the scale in 1966 voting.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Advising Young Men

Dear Mr. Editor:

I would like very much to see the parents of the young men of this area take a more active interest when the time arrives for their sons to enter military service.

Many parents feel that the service is something that their son must face and that the branch the young man enters is immaterial. The fact is that this is one of the most critical times in their son's life and they need the parents' advice and guidance more than ever.

The best way parents can give this advice is to talk to the recruiters of all branches of service. Advice should not be based on experiences of 15 or 20 years ago because all services, like automobiles, have changed.

A great number of area young men are entering the service as a lark and this is so wrong in as much as it is involving three or four years of his life and can very well shape his entire future.

I'm sure, parents, that if your son was going to enter college you would offer your advice so don't let him down if he is about to enter the service. Any recruiter would be very happy to call at your home to talk to you and your wife.

Reprise For Old Mother

PLYMPTON, England (AP)—Old Mother Hubbard's cottage won a reprieve yesterday. Devonshire County Council ruled it must not be pulled down.

The village elders wanted to get rid of it as unfit for habitation. Now its stone walls and thatched roof will get a facelift in the hope of making it a tourist attraction.

Sarah Martin wrote the nursery rhyme about Old Mother Hubbard in 1804. Old Mother Hubbard was Mrs. Martin's housekeeper.

Could anyone deny this baby a few minutes?

Certainly not the mother or father. And surely you, a stranger, would not begrudge a few minutes of your time to protect this baby's life—perhaps your own, too.

Driving faster than road conditions or the law allows can shorten your trip no more than two or three minutes. Such an insignificant saving—is it worth the risk of a precious life? For minutes like these can often mean the difference between life and death.

Last year, nearly 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents. In 3 out of 10 fatal crashes, speeding was a factor. Think how many lives just minutes might have saved...and slow down!

Help stop senseless killing on our highways. Drive safely yourself.

Insist on strict law enforcement for your own protection.

Work actively with others to support your local Safety Council.

Remember—where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go down.

Olympic Welcome Stirred Hearts Of All Americans

Special to The Daily Record

By Bobby Westbrook

Rome, August 26—The stir which preceded the American flag was a stir to stir the hearts of Americans at the opening of the 17th Modern Olympic games in Rome.

There were plenty of them among the 100,000 plus who filled the Olympic Stadium for the opening ceremony. But it wasn't just Americans who were applauding. There was a warmth of welcome, rising above the warmth of the hot Italian sun, preceding our athletes around the stadium—all of them looking so dignified, and somehow formal with their straw hats.

But oddly enough, there was no corresponding bitterness when the Russian delegation was also given a warm welcome—not quite so warm—not quite so general—but definitely cordial. No one could quite resist the friendly waves of the Russian girls. They are a far cry from the muscle-bound rumps we considered the Russian women athletes of the last Olympics. They were cute—with smart, short haircuts, white dresses with femininely full skirts flaring out from slim red belts.

But the greatest warmth, the greater affection was reserved for neither of the world's great protagonists but for the hosts to 87 countries—to Italy itself.

Every country had its partisans in the crowd. Austria got the first big ovation. Japan had the next biggest delegation after Russia. Everybody in the crowd adopted Haiti's lone representative who had to borrow Italians to carry his sign and his country's flag. Some of the Iron Curtain countries like Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Rumania had apparently been taking lessons on "How to Win Friends" and waved hats or flags with great camaraderie. Great Britain, Canada, Germany had their cheering sections.

But everybody loved the Italians. And small wonder, seldom if ever, has there been a more gracious host to the world. Athletes in their brand new Olympic Village, Olympic tourists taxying every city resource have been taken to the city's heart and found comfort in the greatest building and planning boom in Rome since the days of the Emperors.

But even more amazing than the warmth of welcome to Olympic Rome is its efficiency. To the world picture of Italians as a people for whom time is something to be lived, not saved must be added the Italians who can plan something as stupendous as the games themselves.

queens and potentials across the way.

And from then on we never knew whether it was hot or cool things happened so fast—the procession of the 87 nations with their flags, the raising of the Olympic flag and the salvos of gunfire which signaled all the church bells in Rome to ring. Then the release of the doves—pigeons to us.

The pigeons liked it there—they circled in clouds and swarms and bevvies and, even after the ceremonies were resumed, stray pigeons—all right, doves—kept swooping and cutting arabesques against the blue sky. When the Olympic torch was brought in, however, nobody was watching the doves. Everybody stood—then climbed on their seats as he passed right up our section to the back behind us.

Poor Robin was in a well of grown-ups until two Italian men—one in front and one in back, in tacit consideration,

Those who hadn't worn hats gratefully accepted the eyeshades offered by the Coca Cola venders on the coolie hats by the ice cream men. Robin's ice cream melted faster than she could eat it. We stood up at intervals to let the breeze dry our skirts. We got acquainted with our neighbors.

And joined in the delightful laughter when one lone anonymous character in running shorts came trotting placidly around the track while police tried to wave him off—and, that failing, two Olympic officials gave chase. Everybody cheered when he vanished into the crowd at one end leaving the baffled officials pacing up and down outside.

We ducked when the advertising helicopter roared down into the stadium itself or skimmed above our heads so close our hair blew straight up. The heat was easing by the time the five bands, which had been playing in tandem joined to announce arrival of the President of the Republic, and the kings.

Pocono Grange Endorses Plan For Ambulance

POCONO Grange No. 1415 met in the Grange Hall, Tannersville, last Friday night at which time the following members were taken into the organization:

Tom Miller and Kenneth Pearson, of Scotrun; Peter Gerard, of Henryville; Ralph Powor and John Williams, of Tannersville, and Daniel Mager, of Stroudsburg RD. 3.

Master S. B. Howell reported on the progress made by the Central Pocono Ambulance Assn., which is striving to provide an ambulance for the immediate territory. The Grange has endorsed the project and pledged its assistance.

A program consisting of several readings followed by an educational quiz session was presented by acting lecturer Ruth Howell.

At the close of the meeting games were played and refreshments were served. The next meeting date is Sept. 9. Officers for the coming year will be elected and all members are urged to be present.

Noranee E. Dennis Wed To Richard A. Flory

The Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, was the setting Sunday, Aug. 14, for the midsummer wedding of Miss Noranne E. Dennis to Richard A. Flory.

At ceremonies before the candlelit altar decorated with gladioli the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Dennis, of Stroudsburg and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. S. Flory, of East Stroudsburg, exchanged vows and rings. The service was solemnized by Rev. William Wunder.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of white peau de soie, cut in princess style and falling to a chapel train. The gown was highlighted with chantilly scroll lace, a v-neckline and long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists. On her neck, Miss Dennis wore an engraved gold cross, gift of the groom. Her crown was of seed pearls, from which cascaded a fingertip veil of French silk illusion. She carried a white Bible covered with white peau de soie, and trimmed with chantilly scroll lace, a v-neckline and long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists. Wednesday, Aug. 20 (Arles)—Your Mars indifferent but day has excellent Moon. Sun and Moon are both too far from you to specific activities and talents. Be reasonable, not overaggressive and hopeful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—You can be very good at your job, more attentive to important matters, also to details even though they may seem insignificant. Family issues, however, can advance.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Auspicious Mercury day and continuing through tomorrow. Study research, written material, news items and new hobbies favored. Good day generally but sudden changes not advised.

July 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Day should be responsive to thoughtful and conscientious work, sensible and considerate. You have both the urge and perhaps difficult matters first, then the easier ones in order of their importance. Experience and practice helpful.

August 21 to September 23 (Virgo)—Excellent time for originality and creative talents and capabilities. Don't strain but try to keep up with reasonable demands. Wisdom, common sense and good advice.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Your occupation or calling can be of great assistance. You have good intuition, imagination and a natural know-how to keep you usefully, profitably busy today, along with some surprises.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—May have to exercise more discretion and patience than usual. Don't be afraid to take risks if it will be worth while, you will accomplish more. Good suggestions.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Your influence is still strong since yesterday's important Jupiter aspect. Familiar situations and routine more favored than branching out in untravelled, unknown activities.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—You live in more restrained surroundings now. Under these conditions you will think straighter, be calmer and readier to handle anything that disturbs your pleasantness.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Some tightening and narrowing of horizons, but well suited to certain broad-minded attitude toward others but not to sacrifice principles, rigid demands. Keep calm.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Inspiration and cleverness abound in many ways and tress, in pursuit of which you are more inclined to want your own way too much. You often work too long, too hard for your health, family, friends. This can run down health, cause "nerves." Be as fair as self as you are to those you love or care for. Don't let your schedule interfere with more than you can sensibly handle. Cultivate your softer, more artistic nature, remain healthy.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chuck Estrada, a 22-year-old pitching his first major league season for the Baltimore Orioles, allowed the Cleveland Indians only four hits Tuesday night in racking up his 15th victory by a 4-1 score.

The only run off the right hander was Joe Morgan's first homer since he was acquired from the National League Philadelphia Phillies.

The Orioles scored four runs

Pitt Changes Grid Game For Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A University of Pittsburgh football game here on Oct. 8 on Tuesday was tentatively scheduled for the morning rather than afternoon because the Pittsburgh Pirates may be playing in the World Series.

Athletic Director Frank Carver said Pitt's Athletic Committee moved the starting time of the Panthers game with the University of Miami of Florida up to 10 a. m. instead of the usual 1:30 p. m.

For TV Watchers

This, Carver said, would enable fans to see the football game then get home in time to watch the World Series on television. If the Pirates don't play in the Series, Carver said, the Pitt-Miami game will start at 1:30 p. m.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Steelers said they are thinking about switching their National Football League opener against the New York Giants on Oct. 9 from Forbes Field to Minneapolis because the Pirates may be in the series.

Phils Lose; Jones Gets 14 Strikeouts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sam Jones struck out 14 Philadelphia batters and drove in the winning run Tuesday as the San Francisco Giants edged the Phils and Robin Roberts 2-1.

Jones, in taking his 15th victory against 14 defeats, struck out the side in the sixth and seventh innings, and fanned Tony Taylor and Ken Walters three times each. Every Phil except cleanup batter Tony Gonzalez fanned at least once.

Winning Tally

Jones' second single—in the fifth—scored Willie Kirkland with the winning run. Kirkland had tripled, bringing home Orlando Cepeda, who got a lead-off single.

Roberts gave up six hits, struck out five and did not walk a man. He lost his 13th game in 22 decisions.

Win Two Gold Medals In Swimming; Second In Dive

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Writer
ROME (AP)—Carolyne Schuler and Bill Mulliken gave United States Olympic hopes a tremendous boost Tuesday night by winning gold medals in swimming competition.

Hold Lead

The victory enabled the Yankees to maintain their first place lead over Baltimore.

Luis Arroyo was credited with the victory. The little Cuban southpaw came on in the ninth and allowed one hit in the onlyinning he worked. It was his third triumph without a defeat.

Boyer paced the Yankees with a home run and two singles.

Bill Tuttle, with two of the A's six hits, scored both runs, one on Jerry Lumpe's sacrifice fly and the other on one of Hank Bauer's two singles.

Seeks Talks

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the Realignment Committee, said after the meeting that he hopes to talk things over with Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers who holds a like position in the National League.

He indicated, however, that there was little hope of getting the two additional teams on the field next year.

"Ball parks might be a problem in 1961," he observed.

A league spokesman also pointed out that the wording of the resolution did not force the new teams to start operations by 1962. It merely set a date for bringing them into the league.

Buck Hill Hosts National Lawn Bowlers

THE UNITED STATES Championships of the American Lawn Bowling Assn. will be held Sept. 7-12 at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls.

Only 15 bowlers, representing the five A. L. B. A. divisions will take part in the event.

Tourney berths are won through three preliminary matches—the local club championships, sectional championships and the divisional championship.

Willis J. Tewksbury of Clearwater, Fla., returns to defend his U. S. Singles title, won in 1958 and '59. The defending doubles team is from Providence, Rhode Island.

Lawn bowling is a cross between bowling, quoits and billiards. The object is to roll the "bowls" or ball as close as possible to the "jack" a small white ball rolled down the green or "rink" to open the game. The constant changing position of the jack as it is hit by the "bowls" makes the game a test of skill rather than luck.

Monticello Joins Catskill Hall Of Fame

Monticello Raceway has joined a movement to establish the Sullivan County Hall of Fame. Prominent athletes and entertainers, who worked at southern Catskill Mountain hotels as youths will be among those eligible.

Many of the nation's top basketball stars including Bob Cousy and Wilt Chamberlain were employed as waiters at Catskill hotels during their collegiate days. Entertainers eligible include Danny Kaye, Sid Caesar, Eddie Fisher and Jerry Lewis.

Here's a tip for bowlers—The slicker the alley is, the slower the ball should be rolled. To regulate the speed of the delivery, the bowler changes the arc of his arm swing.

By holding the ball chest-high at the start of the delivery, the arc is increased and the ball is thrown much faster, without any extra physical efforts. A waist high start leads to a medium speed toss and a below the waist set position, is used for the slower deliveries, the one best suited for slick lanes.

Terriers Open Beaver Stadium

Penn State's 1960 football team will entertain three inter-sectional rivals and an Eastern Independent in its new 44,000-capacity stadium.

The Nittany Lions will unveil new Beaver Stadium Sept. 17 when they seek their seventh straight triumph over Boston University. The Terriers haven't beaten Penn State in the series that started in 1951.

Missouri, a 19-8 Penn State victim last season, will visit Beaver Stadium Oct. 1. Missouri represented the Big Eight Conference against Georgia in last season's Orange Bowl game.

West Virginia of the Southern Conference will help the Nittany Lions observe Band Day on Oct. 29 and on Nov. 5, Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference will round out the 1960 home card. Maryland and Penn State last met in 1944.

And if you want a sure bet to earn a few bob, bet one of your golfing friends that a pro playing in a Professional Golfer's Assn. tournament, can't be faced with a 17-foot chip shot.

PGA tournament regulations require that all holes be placed 18 feet from the edge of the green and the distance is carefully measured.

Uncle Sam Favored In Rich Hambletonian; Record Purse

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A healthy field of 19 three-year-old trotters, painstakingly brought up through the season to their peak by strategy-minded trainers, was poised Tuesday for the record $14,500 Hambletonian.

The premier harness racing stake will start at 2:30 p.m. EST Wednesday on the exceptionally fast clay mile oval of the Du Quoin State Fair Grounds.

There is no pari-mutuel betting at the plush racing plant carved from strip mining acreage and home of the Hambletonian since 1957. A crowd of 25,000 is expected.

The Kentucky Derby of trotting will have two heats of a mile each starting an hour apart. If there are separate heat winners, the entire field will return for a third trip. If there are separate winners in each of the three heats, only the winning trio will return for the fourth and final mile.

The trotter first to win two heats is the Hambletonian champion, collecting a record jackpot of $85,019. Second place is worth

Yang Could Steal Rome Decathlon

By WILL GRIMSLY

ROME (AP)—They call him the "Chinese Tarzan" and "Asia's strong man."

He is remarkably big for one of his race—one inch under six feet and 178 pounds of well-tailored muscle. He is a picture of grace and coordination.

He is Chuan-kwang Yang of Formosa, 27, a student at UCLA in Los Angeles and Rafer Johnson's most feared rival in the rigorous decathlon of the Olympic Games.

"I make one mistake and Yang beats me," said Johnson, the Negro giant from Kingsbury, Calif., who holds the world record in the event. "He may beat me whether I make a mistake or not."

Johnson had to score a record 8,623 points to beat out Yang in the U.S. National Decathlon Championships this summer in Eugene, Ore. Yang scored 8,426 with only a 5-4 performance in the high jump, usually his best event.

Needed Jump

"The next day Yang went out and high-jumped 6-4," said UCLA Coach Dicky Drake, now helping with the Nationalist Chinese team. "If he had done that at Eugene he would be the new world recordholder."

Drake has coached both Johnson and Yang.

"I wouldn't predict a winner," he said. "If one of them falls down on an event, the title goes to the other."

FOURTH STRAIGHT—Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars team form the figure "Four" to show they have won the Stroudsburg Little League title for the fourth time. Members of the championship team are: (Not in order) Mike Stolinski, Joe Pula, Dan Rahn, Ned Rahn, John DeVivo, Tom Shiffer, Barry Hallman, Bill Bisbing, Bruce Knecht, Ron Yost, Rich Yost, Joe Small, John Brent and John Kortright. The team is managed by Ray Davis and Steve Stolinski.

Banks' Homer Gives Cubs 5-4 Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks' 37th homer, on a 3 and 2 pitch off lefty Joe Nuxhall to open the last half of the ninth inning, powered the Chicago Cubs to a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati Tuesday.

Banks' blast, a towering fly into the left field bleachers, saddled Nuxhall with his seventh loss as rookie right-hander Joe Schaffernoth got his second win against as many losses.

Both Nuxhall and Schaffernoth were working in relief of sidelined starters, Jimmy O'Toole for the Reds and Glen Hobbie for the Cubs.

Schaffernoth yielded only one hit in his successful mop-up job as the Cubs got to Nuxhall for two.

The horner, giving Banks a total of 104 RBI's, also pulled the slugging shortstop into a tie with Bill Nicholson for fifth place among the Cubs' all-time extra base hitters.

Cincinnati 110 000 200-4 10 0
Chicago 010 201 001-5 9 0

O'Toole, Nuxhall (5) and Bailey; Hobbie, Schaffernoth (7) and Thacker. W — Schaffernoth (2-2). L—Nuxhall (1-7).

Home runs—Cincinnati, Pinson (15), Chicago, Banks (37).

Harlow Still In Danger

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—The condition of Richard Harlow, retired football coach and member of the Football Hall of Fame, was reported to be still serious Tuesday.

The 69-year-old Harlow was taken to Mercy Hospital in Scranton Aug. 4 after a heart attack. He was later moved to the Veternans Hospital here. His home is in Wayne County.

French Writer Backs America

PARIS (AP)—French sports writer Raymond Marcillac in the respected Le Monde said Tuesday American swimmer Lance Larson was wronged by swimming judges who awarded the Olympic 100-meter freestyle swimming victory to John Devitt of Australia.

"It is almost certain now that Larson was wrongfully deprived of first place...we asked ourselves how the judges could choose between them. Actually, the judges were not able to...it's a pity that in a test of quality and this importance, a doubt remains."

Forestry Unit Plans Annual Meet

A MEETING of officers and directors of the Pocono Forestry Association was held at President Dale Lear's office recently.

The purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for the association's annual dinner meeting on Saturday, Oct. 22. The meeting will be held in the Pocono Township Fire Hall at Tannersville.

Dr. Ralph Marquis, director of the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station U. S. Forest Service, Upper Darby, Pa., will give the main address.

Dr. Marquis supervises all U. S. Forest Service research in the 11 Northeastern States.

An added feature of this year's annual meeting will be the presentation of the first annual Pocono Forestry Association Conservation Award. The award will be presented to an outstanding non-professional conservationist of the Pocono Mountain area. It will be presented each year. The award itself is being donated by President Lear. Non-members of the Association as well as members are eligible for the award. Selection will be based entirely on the individual's accomplishments in the field of conservation.

Open To Public
The annual meeting is open to the public. Tickets may be obtained from the officers and directors of the association.

The Pocono Forestry Association is a group of people interested in "Keeping the Poconos Green and Clean." Dues are $1.00 per year. If you are interested in membership or Dinner Tickets, you may write Pocono Forestry Association, P. O. Box 175, East Stroudsburg.

Heinz Company Purchases Firm

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The H. J. Heinz Co., a food processing firm, has announced it has purchased Reymer & Brothers, Inc., a Pittsburgh company that produces fruit-base drinks.

Heinz said it bought the firm for the purpose of diversification. Reymer products, which have been marketed primarily in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York, will be sold nationally, Heinz said.

Heinz said Reymer will continue operating under the Reymer name with its president, P. Benjamin Grosscup Jr., as head of the operations.

The purchase price was not made public, but Heinz said the transaction mainly involved Heinz stock.
